LO-LITE SIDEKICKS

LP/CD

LP: $4.50
CD: $5.50

The 3rd amazing album from this Dutch two-man band, excelling in an original mix of raw stompin' blues and a high-octane punk rock. A slithering slideguitar, some maniac vocals and pounding drums make for a surprisingly heavy sound. LO-LITE absolutely hasn't the tinny sound one would suspect from such a small band. Though barebones primitive, the songs carefully evade the silly rock&roll clichés one might expect.

Fresh back from a tour of Italy, Switzerland, Slovenia, and Germany, LO-LITE plans to continue touring throughout the summer, including crossing the pond for a 2-week west coast tour, their first outside of Europe.

"Garage/Blues dall'Olanda con furore!"

- Pasquale Boffoli, Punkadeka Punk Web Zine (Italy)
Unbelievable! On this record this Dutch duo demonstrates very clearly their artistic ascendance, since live their devastating energy doesn't leave space for any fire. LO, guitar-vocals, ex-leader of VIVA LA MUERTE!, legendary 80s Dutch garage-rock combo..." (translated from Italian)

"Bluesy, primal noise" - Jimmy Alvarado, Razorcake

"... sorta like John Spencer covering the Gun Club after a PCP bender. Heavy, claustrophobic shit that'll surely ruin the night of any alcoholic who refuses to leave after last call."

"Thick as red dirt" - Smashin' Transistors

"Lo-Lite are the rock and rollin' brothers of the rubber burnin' fiends over there. Heavy on an American skronk like the Bassholes at their unstaiblest these Dutch scavenge for noise for something to make a big pile of smoke. Thick as red dirt mud low end and maniacal broken beer bottle neck slide runs swagger around the room calling up some wrench wringing buddies over to stomp and thump each other."

"Blooze-benders" - Bazoooka Joe

"Blast the fuck outta this here nuevo platter by LO-LITE!!! The third release by these Nederlander blooze-benders once again features multiple tracks of damaged slide-git grease-drippins powered by throbbing mid-tempo BOOM-BAP kit pound!!!!"
