Four guys from Turin, Northwest Italy, play a violent surf rock, and it looks like it's the only thing they can do to keep themselves alive. Blasting live shows shoot their audience straight into the veins of pure rock'n'roll violence. Band born in '98 originally called "Braccobaldos", with one 7" (Purevinyl, Austria) and one 10" split (vintage vinyl records, Denmark); after thousands of concerts they, with the assistance of the lovely Pink Flamingo Girls, decided to change their name to "Introducers" for their first album, "close Ups", on Slovenly Recordings.

Selling Points:

Recent Italian tour with the Trouble Makers (USA)

Live show compared by Trouble Makers' singer Tim Foster to that of Sacramento surf legends THE TIKI MEN

Spoken Word by Tim Kerr on track 11 "Delawares"
